"Recently, Kelley Blue Book has added pertinent, user-friendly tools to help new-car shoppers make more informed purchase decisions," said Scott Ehlers, vice president of product for Kelley Blue Book's KBB.com. "This award validates Kelley Blue Book's commitment to providing site visitors with the best online experience when researching vehicles."

In addition to Kelley Blue Book new- and used-car values, KBB.com offers consumers 5-Year Cost to Own information, Expert Reviews and Ratings and Consumer Reviews and Ratings. 5-Year Cost to Own data helps shoppers make smart decisions by breaking down total ownership costs during the initial five-year ownership period, including depreciation costs, expected fuel costs, typical insurance costs, and more by make and model.

The site also provides car reviews and ratings from the company's expert editorial staff. Having reviewed nearly all of the common makes and models of vehicles consumers see on the road today, KBB.com's expert editors provide straightforward assessments and information, including driving impressions, favorite features and pricing notes for each new car. On-site shoppers also voice their opinion by rating their own vehicles and other vehicles they have experience with. Consumer Reviews and Ratings allow site visitors to post actual photos and videos of the car they are reviewing. In addition, car shoppers have access to Kelley Blue Book's Fair Purchase Price for new cars, which demonstrates what a consumer can expect to pay for a vehicle based on what others have actually paid.
