

Average New-Car Prices Up 3% Year Over Year for July 2019 on Strong Truck Sales, According to Kelley Blue Book

IRVINE, Calif., Aug. 1, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- The valuation analysts at Kelley Blue Book today reported the estimated average transaction price for a light vehicle in the United States was $37,169 in July 2019. New-vehicle prices increased $1,246 (up 3.5%) from July 2018, while decreasing $312 (down 0.8%) from last month.

"While July is expected to come in below a 17-million SAAR pace, the industry average transaction price continued its steady rise, up 3% year over year," said Tim Fleming, analyst for Kelley Blue Book. "Trucks were the big story in July as new mid-size and full-size offerings helped to drive truck prices up about 3% while contributing to sales growth in this down market. With the new 1500 trucks from RAM and GM that came out last year, full-size truck prices have now eclipsed the $50,000 mark, and new heavy-duty trucks from these manufacturers this year will push those numbers up even more."
