IRVINE, Calif.

The Webby Awards, the leading international honor for the Web, today recognized Kelley Blue Book's kbb.com as an Official Honoree, a distinction that recognizes work exhibiting remarkable achievement. This is the company's second consecutive win as an Official Honoree.

Hailed as the "Oscars of the Internet" by the New York Times, The Webby Awards is the leading international award honoring excellence on the Internet, including Web sites, Interactive Advertising, Online Film & Video, and Mobile Web sites. The awards are judged by the International Academy of Digital Arts & Sciences, a global organization that includes David Bowie, Harvey Weinstein, Arianna Huffington, Matt Groening, Jamie Oliver, internet inventor Vinton Cerf, and RealNetworks CEO Rob Glaser.

"The Webby Awards honors outstanding work that is setting the standards for the Internet," said David-Michel Davies, executive director of The Webby Awards. "Kelley Blue Book's kbb.com Official Honoree selection is a testament to the skill, ingenuity, and vision of its creators."

The 11th Annual Webby Awards received a record 8,000 entries from more than 60 countries including the United States. Out of more than 8,000 entries submitted, fewer than 15 percent received this honor and were deemed an Official Honoree.

"Kbb.com has made significant improvements over the last year, and have many more exciting additions to kbb.com in the near future," said Stephen Henson, executive vice president, consumer business and marketing, Kelley Blue Book. "We are committed to maintaining our status as the no. 1 automotive information site for both new- and used-vehicle shoppers, providing the necessary tools to help consumers complete their transactions when buying or selling a vehicle."
